LAPSE BY "MODEL MAGISTRATE"

Misappropriates $460,000
In Farm Taxes.

MAY BE HIDING IN HONG KONG

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, To-day.

The former magistrate of Poon Yue District, Mr. Yen Pok-kau, has been found to have misappropriated $460,000. An order has been issued for his arrest.

Known as the model magistrate, Mr. Yen Pok-kau constructed several new government and civic buildings at Shuncho, the county seat of Poon Yue, one of the richest districts in Kwangtung. He was given wide credit for his achievements, as his construction work is seen by all passengers coming to and leaving Canton by the Pearl River.

The deficit of $460,000 is in farm taxes which he failed to remit to the Provincial Department of Finance.

WAR RUMOURS PREVALENT IN SOUTH CHINA

12 Per Cent. Depreciation
In Kwangsi Dollar.

"SUREST SIGN OF TROUBLE"

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Wuchow, To-day.

One of the sure indications of the unsettled political situation in Kwangsi Province is the fact that the Kwangsi dollar has depreciated 12 per cent. in value during the last few days.

Kwangsi financiers, business men, and merchants have learned to regard the fluctuation in the value of Kwangsi paper money and silver specie as a thermometer which invariably indicates a threatened war or political upheaval.

Several years ago, just previous to the declaration of war between Kwangsi Province and the Central Government, Kwangsi paper money dropped to such a low rate of value that it was barely worth the paper it was printed on. A year or so later when the two opposing factions came to a satisfactory agreement, and, patched up their differences, the first indication of peace was the rise in value of the Kwangsi paper money, which had been issued during the government of Young Shue-hung.

POPULARISING PAPER MONEY.

Owing to the fact that paper money has no value in itself, the people in many parts of the Province refuse to use the provincial banknotes. To overcome this the Government usually gives a premium on the paper money and in this way the paper money is popularised.

SOUTH AMERICAN ARMS EMBARGO HELD UP

Japan And Italy Delay Action
By Non-Declaration

London, To-day.

Over thirty countries have declared their agreement, in principle, with the proposed arms embargo on Bolivia and Paraguay, Italy and Japan being the only two Governments on the list of those approached from which such declaration has not as yet been received. — British Wireless Service.

ARMS SUPPLY TO PARAGUAY AND BOLIVIA

Japan Holding Up
Embargo.

NO AGREEMENT GIVEN

London, To-day.

A question as to the conditions reached by Italy to her acceptance of an arms embargo to Bolivia and Paraguay, the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, said that he understood that the Italian Government had made their acceptance of the contemplated measure conditional upon acceptance by a number of other specified Governments.

As the Italian list included the U.S.S.R. and Japan, invitations were duly transmitted by the League Committee of Three to the Governments of these two countries to participate also.

SOVIET AGREEMENT

The Government of the U.S.S.R. had announced their agreement. The position as regards Japan was that a formal agreement had not yet been given, although it has been explained that no exports of arms had in fact been sent from Japan to Bolivia or Paraguay.

The Italian Government had also stipulated that current contracts should be exempted from the proposed embargo.

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1891, Received June 27, 11:58 a.m.)

Washington, To-day.
The Governor of the Federal Reserve, Mr. Eugene Black, has announced that the Federal Reserve Banks are ready to make direct loans to industry. The regulations will be announced to-day.

Mr. Black said that the market margins regulations will not be published for several weeks. — United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

SMALL ENTERPRISES FIRST

Washington, To-day.
Mr. Eugene Black, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, announced that the Federal Reserve Banks are ready to receive applications for direct loans to industry as authorized by Congress.

He adds that the need of small enterprises will receive first consideration. The announcement of policies to be adopted by the Board regarding the fixing of margins for trading on stock exchanges is deferred. — Reuter.

It is understood that the British Government's reply to the United States war debt note which the British Ambassador to Washington, Sir Ronald Lindsay, will hand to the American Secretary of State, Mr. William C. Cordell Hull, to-day, is couched in the friendliest terms, but does not encourage the United States suggestion that payments in kind are practicable.

The full text of the reply will be published throughout the world to-morrow.

The conciliatory tone of the note is believed, incidentally, designed to relax the Anglo-American tension at the naval talks. — United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

TRADE AGREEMENT WITH FRANCE.

To Be Signed In London
To-day.

London, To-day.

The new Franco-British trade agreement will be signed at the Foreign Office to-day. On the British side the signatories will be the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, and the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, while the French Ambassador in London will sign the agreement for France. — British Wireless Service.

GERMAN DEBT DELEGATES NOW IN LONDON

UNABLE TO ACCEPT ARGUMENTS.

Threatening Attitude
Deployed.

London, To-day.

The German debt delegates arrived at Liverpool Street Station last night and drove to their hotel with a Jewish taxi-driver.

A Berlin message states that prior to the departure of the delegation for London the German Government despatched a note regretting that it was unable to accept the arguments of Great Britain which, it states, seem to be partially based on a misunderstanding of the proceedings of the Berlin transfer conference.

It also regrets that the British Government thinks it necessary to enforce its viewpoint by threatening compulsory measures, whereby Germany will be compelled to take corresponding defensive measures. — Reuter.

HEAT WAVE TOLL IN SHANGHAI

Six Reported Dead
From Stroke.

DECLINE IN CRIME

Shanghai, To-day.

The heat wave here, which yesterday reached a temperature of 102.7 degrees has caused six deaths from heat stroke.

A strong breeze brought some relief yesterday, and the populace near the General Hospital had the advantage of a burst 20-inch water main, which turned the vicinity into a lake.

A general abatement of crime has occurred in the last two days, no armed robberies or street fights being reported. — Reuter.

The Woman's Page

Perfect Feet Rare Among Women

Result Of Short, Narrow And High Heeled Shoes

FIND YOUR BALANCE

London.
The percentage of perfect feet is infinitesimally small among wo- men. A shaming statement, but a true one. You all know the reason. So it will not be neces- sary to preach a sermon on the futility of wearing shoes too short, too narrow, too high of heel.

Now, what is to be done about improving matters?
First, we can give the feet a few moments' attention every day and a real beauty drill once a week. Every day, before we get up, we can stretch and twist them. In your bath, wriggle and bend and turn the toes to make them supple. See that your feet are thoroughly dry, especially be- tween the toes, after bathing, and dusted with talcum or an anti- acidity powder. In warmer wea- ther you will be careful that they are sprayed frequently with a cooling tonic lotion, the soles being hardened by friction and the application of some alcohol or methylated spirit.

Weekly Treatment

Once a week, the feet should have an invigorating bath with special foot salts, sea salt or a solution of warm water, soda, and a few drops of iodine. Next should follow a careful pedicure. Hard skin must be rubbed down with pumice; nails clipped and smoothed with a file (straight across, please—no fancy shapes). Exercises need take only a few moments—and your feet will be so grateful for them!

If you suffer from corns, chil- blains, or that common complaint, dropped arch, such visits become imperative.

Radiant heat or the deeply pen- etrating infra-red rays are used in the modern foot beauty parlours: infra-red being especially good in cases of rheumatic swelling and inflammation of poor circulation.

Correctly fitted shoes, manipu- lative treatment, and a few min- utes' exercising at home, in nearly every case, will cure dropped arch. But the foot doctor will tell you, as I have done, that you must help yourself by conscientiously carrying out the treatment at home under his directions.

A foot culture specialist states that badly chosen stockings are almost as great offenders as shoes in ruining the modern foot. The foot seam, preferably, should run under the foot: the stocking should be amply large but not loose—neither too short, nor, in the case of the broad foot, too pointed.

Get Your Balance

Women who suffer from drop- ped arch should avoid the court type of shoe. The foot must al- ways be balanced. To achieve this foot balance, see that the shoe is cut high enough to avoid pressure that makes corns and thickened points, wide enough to avoid circulation being checked; lorged and deep enough to allow the toes to curl under easily.

"Give the feet plenty of air," is a favourite maxim of another specialist. He believes that wo- men should take off their stock- ings and let their feet have an

THE ADVANCE OF FOOTWEAR.

Comfort And Strength Without Clumsiness.

London.
Whether it is a question of a shoe for hard court or grass court lawn tennis, for golf in summer or in winter, for beach wear on the Riviera or East coast, or of a boot for skiing, skating or riding, it will be found that immense progress has been made in re- cent years.

Strength without clumsiness, comfort with apparently smaller fitting, vividness in colour schemes without contravention of good taste, is now the order of day.

The shoe wardrobe of the well dressed sportsman must of necessity be somewhat large, in order to keep pace with the multi- plicity of her games but it need not be expensive.

"air-bath" in the home, and is de- lighted with the bare-foot, sand- alled fashion for evening wear. "Once women can be induced to show their feet, they will look after them more carefully," he says.

The girl who loves dancing and walking, and the business girl who has to stand or walk many hours, should make full use of foot tonics and powders. She should spray not only her feet and toes with powder before putting on her stockings but the inside of her shoes as well.

CARE OF YOUR CARD-TABLE.

Use French Chalk-On Baize.

When the green baize top of a card-table becomes soiled and shabby it may be cleaned easily either by a dry method or by ordi- nary washing. If the baize is to be washed it should be treated quickly with warm soapy water. The process should be carried out quickly, so that the water does not have time to saturate the baize.

Then rub well with a soft cloth and iron at once. Use a moderat- ily hot iron to smooth and dry the baize, and the table top will look like new again. To dry-clean a baize top French chalk should be used to obtain the best results.

CLEANING TENNIS SHOES

When cleaning tennis-shoes with Blanco wet the latter with boiling instead of cold water and the Blanco will neither powder nor rub off.

CROCHET BORDER TABLE MATS.

Difficult Task Made Easy

When crochet edgings have to be worked on to table-mats or tray- cloths it is difficult to pass the crochet hook through the doubled edge of the linen. It is a good plan to machine all round the edge, using a coarse needle and a medium stitch. In this way holes are neatly pierced in the linen, ready for the crochet hook to pass easily through.

A WONDERFUL SAFETY DEVICE!

As essential as his parachute to the aviator who is equipped for any emergency, are Baby's Own Tablets to the home where there are children.

Few children escape health troubles of some kind or other, and wise parents therefore keep Baby's Own Tablets handy for the immediate correction of infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, croup, feverishness, headaches, colds, diarrhoea, worms, and similar ailments of childhood. Administered at the first signs that all is not well, this pleasant-tasting reliable children's medicine prevents the development of more serious conditions.

Cinema Notes

"BOLERO"—KING'S THEATRE

Eleven different rhythms from the French and Spanish tangos, and the Cuban rhumba, form a savage background for the new dance, "Bolero," which George Raft introduces in his current Paramount picture, "Bolero," now showing at the King's Theatre.

LeRoy Prinz, dance director of the Paramount studios, and the man who first brought the Cuban rhumba to America, collaborated with Raft on the 17 movements of the new dance. The dance has a musical background of Maurice Ravel's "Bolero," and special music was composed by Ralph Rainger. In the picture, which gives Raft his first opportunity to dance for screen audiences, Carole Lombard, Sally Rand, the fan-dancer, and Frances Drake have featured roles.

"RIPTIDE"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

"Riptide," featuring beautiful Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery, is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's current production, now showing at the Queen's Theatre.

Herbert Marshall portrays the part of Lord Philip Redford with flawless characterization. Miss Shearer is in a class by herself and Robert Montgomery is once again at his best. The late Lilyan Tashman and Mrs. Patrick Campbell are in the cast. The picture is a sex comedy-drama of marriage and divorce in titled society. Herbert Marshall excels as the jealous husband, and Robert Montgomery is ideally cast as the lover.

"MAYOR OF HELL"—ALHAMBRA THEATRE

"Mayor of Hell," featuring James Cagney, Madge Evans, Allen Jenkins, Dudley Digges and 600 juvenile stars, is Warner Brothers' current attraction now showing at the Alhambra Theatre. The story centres round a boy's reform school, and particularly on one boy, who, having suffered much at the hands of a brutal warden, creates the drama when the boys are given a chance to rule themselves. Some of the juvenile stars are Frankie Darro, Mickey Bennett, Raymond Borzage and others well-known to movie-goers. Madge Evans provides the love interest.

"SECRET OF THE BLUE ROOM"—CENTRAL THEATRE

The tense mystery drama, "Secret of the Blue Room," involving a sinister master of the house, a beautiful girl, a newspaper in love, and a handsome marine officer in a hopelessly entangled web of unseen death, is Universal's latest production.

The cast include Lionel Atwill, Gloria Stuart, Paul Lukas, Edward Arnold and Onslow Stevens, and several other well-known players.

"SLEEPERS EAST"—MAJESTIC THEATRE

"Sleepers East," featuring Wynne Gibson, Preston Foster, Mona Barrie, and Harvey Stephens, is Fox Film's current attraction.

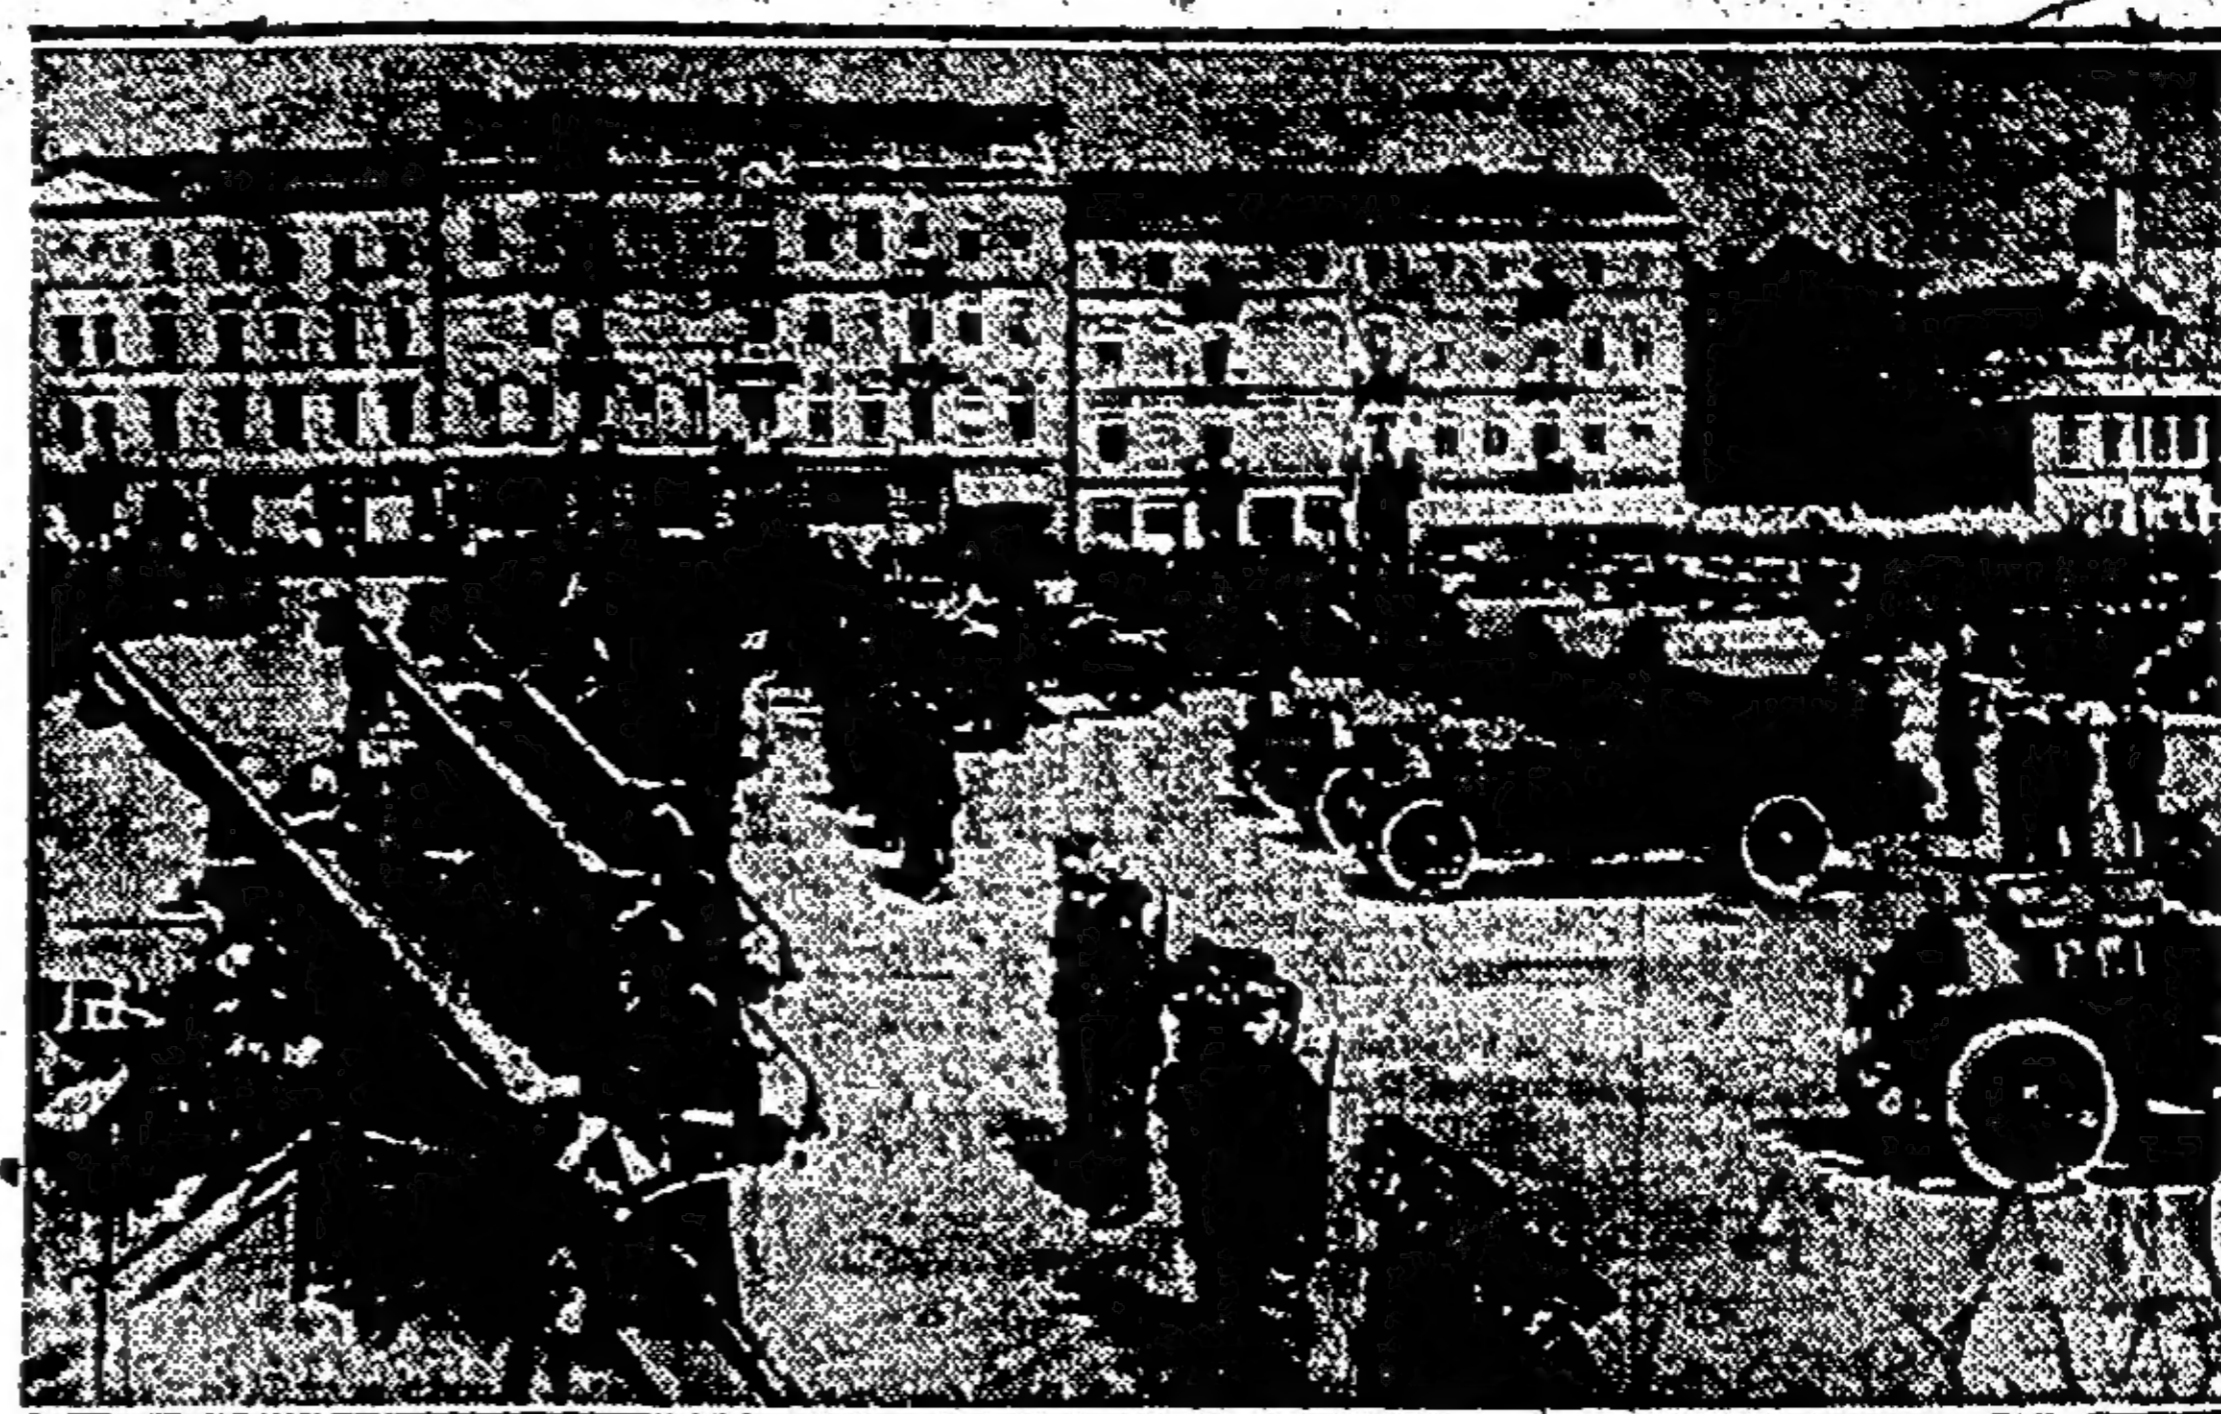

The plot of the story concerns a girl who involuntarily finds herself the sole eyes-witness to a murder. For the sake of her own reputation she keeps silent and chooses to remain out at sight, but fate does not choose to leave her alone.

The picture, directed by Kenneth MacKenna, is full of excitement, romance, intrigue, and humour.

"THE GREEKS HAD A WORD FOR THEM"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

Three pretty blondes, Ina Claire, Joan Blondell and Madge Evans, make-up the whole attraction of the United Artists production, "The Greeks Had A Word For Them."

The tale is of these three merry maids who are "All for One and One for All" until a millionaire comes up on the horizon. Then it becomes a frantic battle of wits to win. Lowell Sherman takes the part of the millionaire.

An imposing massing of troops and war equipment took place in Pilsudski Square, Warsaw, on the celebration of the drawing of the Polish Constitution of 1791. It is called National Day in that country.

BRIDGE NOTES

A Self-Operating Squeeze.

by Ely Culbertson.

The unusual situation of a Declarer who finds himself with 9 tricks laid down at his contract of three notrump, but is unable to realise them in actual play is illustrated on the hand below, which was sent to me by Dr. Ernest Grether, of Midland, Michigan.

The reason why North, the Declarer on this hand, could not cash all his tricks was that his opponents were able to place him in a position where he could do nothing but squeeze himself.

Defensive situations such as this do sometimes occur at the Bridge table. A good player recognises them instinctively. They occur where one player or the other can place the lead either in the Dummy or closed hand—usually the former—knowing that the Declarer has no card of entry remaining in his own holding.

The hand was:
North, Dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

North East South West
2NT (1) Pass 3C (2) Pass
3NT (3) Pass Pass Pass

1—North has 5 honour-tricks, an evenly balanced hand and what some players consider a strong indication of a final notrump contract—a hand containing many tenace situations.

2—An Opening two-notrump bid is, of course, very nearly forcing. South does hold a seven-card suit and a King, which should be a card of entry. With this holding he must make some response to his partner's bid.

3—South's response, of course, encourages North to bid for game, and his balanced distribution, together with his top-card strength in clubs, suggests notrump as the best final contract. The Opening lead was a spade, which Declarer won in his own hand with the Ace and then laid down the Ace, King and another club. West, in the lead, returned a spade, and while this permitted the Declarer to cash six club tricks, he was unable to cash a trick in either hearts or diamonds, the result being that his contract was defeated 1 trick.

Obviously, to refuse to cash the established tricks in Dummy would prove equally ineffective, as then East and West must take two spade tricks and sufficient tricks in the other suits to make the defeat even more decisive.

SOVIET EDUCATION CHANGE.

Minds Overtaxed By Politics.

Moscow.
The doctrines of Marx and Lenin are no longer to be taught to children under 12, according to a decree just issued by the Soviet education authorities. They have decided that complicated political theories overtax the young mind.

It has been found that the children do not understand the real meaning of what is taught them, and are only able to repeat "catch-phrases" like parrots. Subjects more suitable to the child mind are to be substituted in the lower schools.—Reuter.

One million pupils are expected to attend government schools throughout Egypt, in the near future, as a result of elementary education being made compulsory.

Cape Town.
Preparations for erecting South Africa's new £16,000 lighthouse, including a powerful fog signal and radio beacon, are nearing completion.

The lighthouse will be erected at Cape Columbine, and already two truckloads of material for foundation work have been despatched.

This is welcome news to mariners, especially to coasting masters and hundreds of fishermen who fear that part of the coast in foggy weather more than any part of the South African seaboard.—Reuter.

PADGHAM'S ROUND OF 69

FINE FORM SHOWN IN LEEDS TOURNEY

WOMAN'S ATTEMPT FAILS

(By George Greenwood.)

LEEDS, JUNE 1. ALFRED PADGHAM OF SUNDRIDGE PARK, LONDON, IS GRADUALLY ESTABLISHING HIMSELF AS THE LEADING BRITISH GOLFER.

In the first of two qualifying rounds of the "Yorkshire Evening News" £750 professional tournament at Moortown, Leeds, today he accomplished the splendid score of 69.

Padgham is making a habit of returning scores of under 70, a standard which few players attain. In the Southport tournament recently he had an average of 69½ for four rounds.

PADGHAM'S FORM IS SO CONSISTENT, AND THE FIGURES ARE OBTAINED WITH SO LITTLE EFFORT, THAT HE IS CERTAIN TO START ONE OF THE FAVORITES FOR THE BRITISH OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP A FORTNIGHT HENCE.

MILLER BOWS TO PAUL

Foul Spoils Fine Record.

UNSATISFACTORY REVENGE

Los Angeles, June 19. Freddie Miller, the National Boxing Association's featherweight champion of the world, tonight lost his first bout in eleven starts, bowing to Tommy Paul, former champion, on a foul, in the second of a scheduled 10-round non-titular bout.

Physicians after the bout, said that Paul sustained a dislocated hip from the effects of Miller's low blow.

Paul, weighing one pound more than his opponent, 128, thus gained an unsatisfactory revenge for the loss of his title on January 13, 1933, to the champion.

Miller, on the other hand, spoiled a sensational record that has covered a period of several months. The champion, prior to tonight, had not lost a bout since September 26, 1933, when he dropped a non-title decision to Frankie Wallace of Cleveland.—United Press.

FRANK PARKER TOO YOUNG TO PLAY AT WIMBLEDON

17-Year-Old Must Gain More Experience Before He Tours

Frank Parker, 17-year-old tennis prodigy, who is ranked No. 8 in America, is not competing at Wimbledon.

According to Mercer Beasley, the Californian coach, who discovered him, Parker is too young and must gain more experience before he plays in England.

"Frank will not go abroad this year," Beasley said. "He will at least have that to look forward to."

THE RUGBY FIASCO

"SLAP IN FACE FOR FRANCE"

BRITISH REPLY

London, June 21.

The four British Rugby Unions, in their reply to the French Federation, have decided that the time is not yet ripe for a resumption of international matches with France.

A translation of an extract of the letter received by the French Federation reads:—"If your Federation has done much for the recovery of Rugby, we consider it has not yet done sufficient. As long as Rugby, as practised in France, is not played in the right spirit, and in accordance with the traditions of the game long ago laid down by the Home unions, and above all, as long as the present system of competition exists in France, it will not be possible to consider the arranging of international or inter-club matches."

Naturally, this negative reply has caused much disappointment in France. "A masterly slap in the face," is the comment of the Paris "Sol".

"It is a slap which we might have expected; a slap which ruins our ambitions, our reputation and the prestige of French sport, for the reply is negative and taken unanimously by all four of the Home unions."

M. Dantou, President of the French Federation, who was a member of the delegation who recently visited London, expressing his personal opinion, said:—"I consider that we have no lessons or suggestions to receive from the British unions. We have done without them for three years and we shall continue to do without them in the future. As for suppressing competitions, i.e., the French championship, I reply, speaking for myself, that this is our business."

Another official of the French Federation said:—"The British regard Rugby as essentially British, and a game which can only be played by the British."—Reuter.

LIGHT BLUES' BIG DEFEAT

TWO GROUND RECORDS AT FENNERS

STONELEY'S FINE QUARTER

(By Bevil Rudd.)

LONDON, JUNE 1. THE AMATEUR ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION BEAT CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY AT FENNERS YESTERDAY BY 82 POINTS TO 38, BUT THIS WIDE MARGIN OF VICTORY IN NO WAY DETRACTED FROM THE EXCITEMENT OF THE MATCH.

Ground records were broken in the quarter-mile and three miles events, and in the 100 yards and high hurdles records were missed by one-tenth of a second and in the weight by half an inch.

In addition to these impressive achievements there was some tremendous racing, especially in the half-mile, 220 yards and low hurdles.

F. R. WEBSTER'S POLE VAULT OF 12FT 3IN, THOUGH 4IN SHORT OF O. SUTHERLAND'S RECORD, WAS ANOTHER EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE. DR. L. T. BOND IS THE ONLY ENGLISHMAN EVER TO HAVE EXCEEDED THIS HEIGHT.

E. I. Davis, the Cambridge president, showed that his recent absence from the track has in no way impaired his tigerish speed. He leapt out of his holes in the "hundred" and was never headed, though F. A. R. Hunter came at him with a tremendous burst in the last twenty yards. Hintze, unfortunately, was slow in starting.

The fast time, a tenth under even, was possibly due to a gusty, diagonal wind which blew down the straight; otherwise conditions were cold and dull and in no way favoured the runners.

POWELL'S POWER AND SPEED

This fact makes C. H. Stoneley's 49.15 sec for the quarter and E. B. Fowle's 14min 32.25 sec for the three miles the more meritorious. Fowle's opposition came from the Midland runner, A. W. Shakespeare, and not from C. K. Allen, who was worn down in the first half of the last mile.

Shakespeare, however, never let Fowle get away and, running easily and strongly, raced up to his shoulder down the last straight. They ran like this for some thirty yards, till Fowle's unapparent power and speed gradually shook off Shakespeare.

The 220 yards race was a terrific struggle between A. W. Sweeney, E. I. Davis and D. L. Rathbone.

Sweeney swept round the bend with tremendous speed and half-way down the straight led by two yards, but Davis and Rathbone (Continued on Page 5)

NIGHT HORSE RACING

French Flood-Lighting Plan For Saturday.

Intense interest is being taken in French sporting circles in the first race meeting by floodlight, which is to be held at Longchamps this coming Saturday, June 30.

Night racing was first staged in the United States nearly 40 years ago, but this is the first time it has been arranged for a first-class course in Europe.

The meeting will begin about 8.30 p.m., when it will still be light, with two flat races. They will be followed when night has fallen by four more flat races, which will be run by the light of powerful electric lights.

It is believed that night racing may eventually become popular in England.

Frank O'Neill, the noted jockey, says, "I feel sure it will be a powerful attraction, just as it was in the early days in the United States."

GERMAN AIR RACE TRAGEDY

Vollbracht & Mechanic Killed in Crash

HANOVER SQUADRON LEADS

Berlin, June 21. The Hanover squadron of three speed planes, who won last year's Goering Cup, were leading at the end of the first of the four days of flight, made up of round trip races between Berlin and the main air centres of Germany, each round being from 800 to 1,000 miles in length.

To-day's leg led the fliers to Koenigsberg, East Prussia, and back. The race started early this morning, 107 German sports machines participating, divided into 23 squadrons.

A tragic accident marred the event, when a plane flown by a crack amateur aviator, Vollbracht, crashed from unknown causes. The pilot and the mechanic were killed instantaneously. Another flier was forced down owing to engine trouble, leaving 105 out of 107 entrants to finish the first day's contest.—Trans-Ocean Kuo Min.

MAIER'S TENNIS TRIUMPHS

Between them Enrique Maier, the Spanish Davis Cup player, and his sister, have won all five titles in the Spanish lawn tennis championships.

BOWLS MATCHES POSTPONED

Owing to Monday being a holiday the Open Singles Lawn Bowls match arranged for that day between C. J. Tacchi (K.C.C.) and G. Perkins (Police) has been postponed until Wednesday.

The match between J. Hodgkin and E. Bass (D.C.C.) has also been postponed, but no date has been fixed for the play off.

NEW ATTACK ON LAND SPEED RECORD

Daytona Beach, June 19.

A new speed creation, in which an attempt may be made on the local sands in 1935 to break the 272 m.p.h. automobile speed record, is today being planned by J. A. White, wealthy Philadelphia sportsman.

White has been in Daytona collecting the aid of the city officials of Daytona Beach in obtaining from the United States government two special aviation motors with which to power the new "Triplex".

Mayor Armstrong of Daytona said that efforts to borrow the needed motors are to be made through Senators Park Trammell and Duncan U. Fletcher.

White hopes to shatter the 272 m.p.h. mark set here in 1925 by Sir Malcolm Campbell, the British speed ace. Sir Malcolm will be invited to come here this summer, possibly in August or September, to try for a new record with a revamped Blackbird. At present, the British record holder is reported to be planning a tour by aeroplane to South Africa to look for a new record, and may be looking for a suitable auto speed track.

White financed the "Triplex" in which Sir Malcolm made his record, and his death in a tragic mishap on the beach. White said he intends to drive the new car himself.

The frame and other integral parts of the new machine are virtually ready for the motors have been under construction for a year.

Obtaining the government motors, now at a naval base in Virginia, is a hard proposition. Obsolete government equipment and weapons are usually given only to schools and colleges for educational purposes.—United Press.

FUJIKURA DEFEATED BY NIGEL SHARPE

POOR DAY FOR JAPAN AT WIMBLEDON.

NISHIMURA LACKS STAMINA

A crowd of 60,000 saw Japan receive three setbacks in the Second Round at Wimbledon yesterday. R. Miki, H. Nishimura and J. Fujikura all being defeated. Yamagishi, who defeated Lesueur of France, was the only Japanese winner.

The only two British Empire players to take part in yesterday's games, Nigel Sharpe, and Don Turnbull, were successful, recording meritorious wins over Fujikura, the Japanese champion, and Miki respectively.

SHARPE PROVIDES SURPRISE
Nigel Sharpe, of Great Britain, created an upset by defeating Fujikura, the new Japanese champion, by 6-4, 3-6, 1-6, 7-5 and 6-4.

Sharpe has previously been a giant-killer at Wimbledon, having recorded wins over Henri Cochet, Baron De Morpurgo and several others.

He was on the very top of his form, although his baseline shots occasionally found the net.

Fujikura remained on the baseline, causing Sharpe to make some spectacular returns by his perfect drives to both corners of the court.

The rain, which had been threatening all day, interrupted the match for a short time, but it was sufficient to upset the Japanese. He slipped about the court on the wet grass, and completely lost his touch. Sharpe coming on level terms in the fourth set and winning the match at 6-4.

NISHIMURA FAILS
Following the downfall of Miki and Fujikura, Japan received another setback when Siba, of Czechoslovakia, defeated Nishimura, No. 2 player in Japan, by 8-6, 4-6, 8-6, 2-6, 9-7.

The Japanese held set point at 6-4 in the first and third sets, but a continuation of the rain upset his play. The fact that the ball was coming off very low appeared to disconcert him.

The sun struggled through the clouds at the commencement of the fourth set, enabling the Japanese to display his brilliant net play.

The final set was an endurance test. Nishimura led 4-1, but Siba, playing a dogged game, drew up to 6-4, after which the Japanese tired rapidly, enabling Siba to secure the set and match after 62 games.—Reuter.

SECOND ROUND
Yamagishi (Japan) beat Lesueur (France) 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.
D. P. Turnbull (Australia) beat R. Miki (Japan) 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.
Nigel Sharpe (Great Britain) beat J. Fujikura (Japan) 6-4, 3-6, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4.
Siba (Czechoslovakia) beat Nishimura (Japan) 8-6, 4-6, 8-6, 2-6, 9-7.

LIGHT BLUES' BIG DEFEAT.

steadily closed on him, and finally Davis, with one of his characteristic bursts, passed him and won by a yard.

F. A. R. Hunter just warded off a great finish by P. Sgt. D. O. Finlay in the 220 yards low hurdles.

But Finlay is a different man in the high hurdles, and I have never seen him show such faultless execution and vigour as he did over the last four flights.

A DRAMATIC RACE
The half-mile was all it promised to be—a dramatic race. J. C. Stothard did not hurry in a slow first quarter, and as M. H. C. Gutteridge accelerated it looked as if he could not challenge him, but 200 yards from the tape he launched a terrific spurt.

Gutteridge was quick to respond as Stothard strode into the lead, but hard as he tried he could make no impression, and Stothard increased his lead down the straight, running with undiminished power.

L. D. Butler, the other newcomer to the A.A.A. team besides Shakespear and Hintze, won the long jump, but only by a single leap of over 22ft.
R. L. Howland's fifth put might easily have gone over 47ft. His rhythm, speed and power were all perfect, but at the last moment he sliced it slightly, and in the end it was his initial put that won, half an inch behind the grand record he made last year.

SENATORS' PITCHER INJURED

Carried from Field Unconscious.

LOU WARNEKE'S FINE PITCHING IN U. S. BASEBALL.

New York, To-day.

Luke Sewell, the Washington Senators' pitcher, was struck on the head with a ball pitched by Hadley, of the St. Louis Browns, and had to be taken from the field unconscious in the third innings of the match in which the Senators nosed out their rivals by a 10 to 9 tally yesterday.

Lou Warneke, the Chicago pitcher, pitched his tenth winning game this season against the Dodgers for 2 runs. Cuyler hit a homer for the Cubs, clinching the victory.

Leading by 4 to 1 after five innings, the Pirates called off their match against the Phillies on account of darkness and rain, but not until Grace had hit a homer.

MAX BAER SAYS WILL HOLD TITLE 10 YEARS

Tommy Loughran To Have Chance.

THEN PRIMO, AGAIN

New York, June 16.

X-ray examinations to-day showed that Primo Carnera of Italy sustained a fracture in his right ankle in his fight last Thursday night at Madison Square Garden's bowl at Long Island against Max Baer of California, the new heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

The huge Italian fighter, erstwhile title-holder, went to the Columbus hospital this morning, where Dr. Vincent Fanoni said Carnera will remain for several days.

Dr. Fanoni, after examining Carnera, said the Italian will not be able to fight for at least four months.

Examinations after the fight revealed that Carnera will not be able to walk for at least a fortnight because of the injury. Physicians said that the Italian tore several ligaments and broke the bone in his foot in the first round of the fight, greatly handicapping him in the remaining rounds against Baer.

RIVAL GOES YACHTING
Meanwhile, the Livermore butcher boy, as Baer is known in the ring, conqueror of the Italian to bring back the heavyweight championship to American shores, was yachting with friends, apparently celebrating his victory.

The youthful Californian, whose victory awakened public interest in the sport since Jack Dempsey began to fade out of the picture, predicted that he would be champion for at least 10 years.

He said he had not made any plans for the future although it was possible that he might go to Hollywood, where it was reported he had received two offers.

In a statement to the press after the fight, the Californian said he would give Carnera a chance to regain the crown. Later, in his dressing room, however, Baer promised Joe Smith, manager of Tommy Loughran, that he would give the former light-heavyweight champion who failed in a bold bid to annex the title against Carnera the first chance at the crown.

ITALIANS DISAPPOINTED
Reports from Italy indicated that Italians were most surprised at the unexpected outcome of the bout. They were much disappointed at Primo's failure to retain the crown.

Premier Benito Mussolini, escorting Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany, was gloomy to-day whereas yesterday he had been smiling and happy in anticipation of a Carnera victory and additional prestige for Italy.

The outcome of the bout was not unexpected to the sports scribbles of the nation. While many believed that the American was destined to return the world crown to America by a knockout, few foresaw the terrific beating which was unleashed.—United Press.

BERT GADD LEADS

In the former champions Duncan, Braid, White, Herd, Ray, and Havers, who was the last Englishman to win the championship, failing to qualify.

Henry Cotton went round in 66 and 76, Percy Alliss and James Adams, of Ireland, tied for second place with rounds of 74 and 67, both players breaking the record for the Deal course.

AMERICANS UNCONVINCING
Several Americans qualified, but their play was unconvincing. Gene Sarazen, 1932 winner, returned cards of 75 and 75, and Denamore Shute, last year's winner, had a 76 and 73; Macdonald Smith 76 and 73, and Joe Kirkwood 75 and 75.

The best amateur was Storey, the former Cambridge captain, whose two rounds of 70 and 73 gave him third place. Robert Sweeney broke the amateur record for the Deal course, recording rounds of 76 and 69.
James Wallace, of Troon, who was defeated so badly by Lawson Little in the Final of the British Amateur Championship at St. Andrews, in May, failed to qualify, his aggregate being 160.

PADGHAM'S ROUND OF 69.

that the method is foolproof, but I am sceptical, having in my time done a good deal of experimenting on similar lines.

I have long ago come to the conclusion that nothing abnormal either in the way of stance or method is a lasting success.

Padgham's display was a model of long and accurate hitting. Starting with three par fours he was out in 33, the first 5 coming at the tenth, a hole of 586 yards, which could not be reached in two shots by even the world's longest hitter.

Padgham's one slip was at the thirteenth, where he found his drive in a cart rut in the rough on the left. Moving the ball a yard or two, he took six for the hole. Undisturbed by this misfortune, he played the remaining five holes in strict par figures—3, 4, 4, 4, 4.

Brews, an earnest, painstaking golfer, laid the foundation of his score of 70 by excellent approaching.

Miss Poppy Wingate's attempt to compete in men's golf was not a success. Her wooden club play was much too weak to enable her to reach the long holes in the requisite number of shots.

For example, she hit three full wooden club shots as the tenth hole, and did not reach the green.

An 86 for the round does not give her the slightest hope of qualifying. Miss Wingate, a frail figure, is assistant to her brother at Templenewham. Scores:

A. H. Padgham (Sundridge Park)	69
S. F. Brews (South Africa)	70

COERSION CHARGE IN CAFE CASE

Mr. Greenaway's Chits. Referring to chits signed by Mr. Greenaway at the Cafe, Mr. Macnamara asked if witness was not aware that a writ had to be issued against Mr. Greenaway before payment was obtained. Witness said that he had been introduced to Mr. Greenaway by Mr. Leon Blumenthal, and told that his chits were to be accepted.

Counsel also suggested that the claim against Mr. Blumenthal was taken out merely as an attempt to get him to pay witness something. If he had been offered a quarter of the claim he would have accepted it and said nothing. Witness denied this.

"We Don't Want Him."

Mr. N. Blumenthal was then recalled and cross-examined by Mr. D'Almeida, and denied that he had made any remark to Mr. Lanepart to the effect that "We don't want him—we can do without him."

Witness added that if he, (Mr. Adamson) had shut up in time, and looked after the cash, "that is all right, he is a good man."

Mr. Lanepart Called.

Mr. H. E. Lanepart was called. He said that he had never found Mr. Adamson drunk. From the time he took charge of the cafe business went up. In his opinion Mr. Adamson worked very well and Mr. Blumenthal had made the mistake of his life. Since Mr. Adamson had left, the business had gone down. I have told Mr. Blumenthal that he made a mistake," he said.

Witness was questioned on the interview which Mr. Blumenthal had with his solicitors at Messrs. G. K. Hall-Brutton and Company. He said that he listened to "Mr. Adamson this and Mr. Adamson that, until I could hold no longer and burst out saying, Mr. Blumenthal wants everything for himself."

Witness added that when they got home from the interview Mr. Blumenthal said to him "Why did you say that, I am going to pay it back to you."

His Dismissal.

After the statement of accounts had been prepared, in February witness said that he was dismissed. Mr. Macnamara—"You are a bit of an admirer of the plaintiff."

Witness—"I have eyes to see and I have the books to base my opinion on."

Mr. Macnamara handed witness a statement of accounts prepared by witness, which he referred to as "gilding the lily". Witness replied that it was a true account, and that it was based on the former accounts. The only difference was that he had not taken an account of the license of the shop and other matters, thus showing trigger profits.

Mr. Macnamara suggested that after being dismissed witness had "trotted after Mr. Adamson and together they had concocted the statement of accounts."

Witness replied that after February, when he was dismissed, he was free to work for anyone whom he chose. He was working in the cause of peace and tried to bring the parties together because business was good.

Mr. Macnamara—"You weren't successful, apparently."

Mrs. Adamson's Evidence. Mrs. P. L. Adamson was called and denied that her husband had been familiar with the customers. She added that it was very funny for Mr. Leon Blumenthal to make such a statement as his "young lady friend" set with her every night in the cafe. It was Leon who had caused all the trouble because he was a jealous man and came over to start an argument. Mr. Adamson had asked David Blumenthal to keep the girl out of the cafe because she caused trouble.

Mr. A. Gillette, a former cashier of the Cafe, stated that he resigned on October 1 because Mr. Blumenthal had brought in a Chinese cashier. He had never found Mr. Adamson drunk and the Cafe was always closed at midnight.

Mr. Macnamara asked if witness thought that Mr. Blumenthal and his sons were the kind who would be so untruthful as to state to the contrary.

Witness—"I was promised a rise and board and lodging, but I did not get it." (laughter).

Mr. Macnamara remarked that there was more in the nature of a broken promise rather than being untruthful.

Cashier Causes Sensation. Mr. Chan Fan, a Chinese cashier who was employed in the Cafe from October to December 15, said that

FIRST MEETING TO-DAY

London, To-day. Sir Frederick Leith Ross, the Chief Economic Adviser to the Government, accompanied by Treasury officials, will conduct negotiations on behalf of the British Government with the German Delegation, respecting the German transfer moratorium.

The German representatives, who will include Dr. Berger, of the Ministry of Finance, Dr. Ullrich, of the Economic Department of the Foreign Office and Dr. Blessing, the Director of the Reichsbank, were on their arrival in London last night, invited to hold the first meeting at the Treasury this morning.—British Wireless Service.

FRIENDLY GESTURE

London, To-day. The money resolution in connection with the debt clearing offices and the Import Restrictions Repeals Bill passed the stage in the House of Commons yesterday. When the House went into committee on the Bill, a Liberal member moved an amendment to limit its duration to 12 months from July 1 next. This, he said, would be a gesture to Germany that the British would be prepared not to engage in reprisals but would rather do everything possible to facilitate and increase Anglo-German trade.

The motion was, however, withdrawn, when the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain, announced his willingness to limit the operation of the measure to two years.

The Chancellor remarked that the Government's purpose in taking the powers contained in the Bill was to give notice to the world that they were so equipped, and thereby to reduce the likelihood of circumstances arising which would require these powers to be used.—British Wireless Service.

A part of this fund was earmarked for the repair of dykes in low-lying places and for the establishment of a farmers' bank. As the money to be used for repairing dykes is not forthcoming, the dykes are in danger of breaking during the flood.

The defaulting official was required to clear the accounts before June 25, but nothing has been done. Meanwhile, no trace of Mr. Yen Pok-kau can be found, and it is believed that he may have gone to Hong Kong or Macao.

This difficulty had not yet been overcome, though the League Committee of Three had recommended that if such a reservation was to be made, a definite and very brief time limit should be laid down, during which it should be operative.

Sir John Simon added that he had no information as to the duration of the existing Italian contracts.—British Wireless Service.

he was asked by Mr. Blumenthal, in the middle of last November, to be a witness to the effect that Mr. Adamson was always drunk.

He was also asked by Mr. Blumenthal to state on evidence that to his knowledge, Mr. Adamson had bribed the former cashiers not to make an entry of food which he received from the cafe, and further that Mr. Adamson had persuaded him to give him 14 days' pay.

Mr. Blumenthal said, "Since you want to be a witness for Mr. Adamson you had better ask him to make good the salary." He offered to pay the money, if I would sign a paper to be a witness. He asked me to go up to his room and write down what I would have to say in Court, but I refused," said witness.

Mr. Macnamara observed in cross-examination that witness was only employed for four days in company with Mr. Adamson when the latter was dismissed, so that his evidence referring to Mr. Adamson would not have been important.

The case is proceeding.

market. The standard for grades of Chicago wheat changes on July 2nd. On and after that date, old or new crop wheat must be specified on all orders.

"Cotton: Following an opening set-back, there was a good demand, which was mainly induced by lack of rain in the Western Belt and expectations of a bullish weekly weather report from Texas to-morrow. Approximately 24,000 bales were tendered for July, which is believed to have been taken by very large spot interests.

"Silver: Observers said that it appeared as though Government purchases of July options were being made at between 45.40 and 45.45. Speculators are buying December options from Banking interests."

Night Telegram

The following telegram was received from New York during the night service:

"Steel operations have made an unexpectedly sharp drop. At the opening, the market was firm and the volume of business was fair.

"In the silver futures market, there is continued speculative July liquidation, which is being absorbed by the usual source. The banks were active in buying nears and selling distant options.

"Good buying was fairly general on the cotton market and this absorbed scattered realising and selling from the South. Weather conditions are fair, but it is hot over the Cotton Belt."—Reuter.

RUSSIAN TO BE DEPORTED

Italian Quibbles Over Debt.

$150 INSTEAD OF $600 ALLEGED DUE

An expulsion order for the deportation of Alexis A. Nikitjuk, an unemployed Russian, who was charged with entering the Colony without a valid passport at the Central Magistracy yesterday, was made this morning by Mr. E. W. Hamilton.

Sergeant Mottram said at the last hearing that on June 19, the British Consul in Canton wrote to the I. G. P. asking whether he could grant defendant a visa. Accused's case was looked into when he arrived on Sunday, with the cashier to put down $5 when he had signed for $10 worth of chits.

Salary Cut.

Witness said that he refused to do this because he knew Mr. Adamson was never drunk and always paid what he signed for.

Witness said that when he was dismissed he asked for two months' wages, but Mr. Blumenthal only out waiting for the visa.

Defendant said that he had no money in Canton and he could not wait.

Mr. Mottram said that in the original letter it was stated that defendant wanted to come to Hong Kong to collect some money, $600, which an Italian owed him.

Sergeant Mottram said, this morning, that Mr. Rukusini, the Italian in question, admitted the debt, which was contracted with accused's father in Harbin last year. Mr. Rukusini maintained that he owed defendant only $150 as part of it had been paid, while accused maintained that Mr. Rukusini still owed him $600.

Mr. Hamilton said that any debt claims must be settled outside the court.

Arrangements are being made for the deportation of Nikitjuk.

GENERAL HO DISMISSES ADJUTANT

The leaders here seem undecided what to do and prefer to continue the present waiting policy.

General Pui Hsueh-hai, the Kwangsi military leader, is said to be impatient and suggests that the South-west should wholeheartedly, either oppose or support General Chiang Kai-shek. A clear-cut policy may be reached soon.

The S. S. Kaiser, which left Shanghai for Hong Kong yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and is due here at about 8 a.m. on Friday.

The Hon. Sir Thomas Southern K.C.E., C.M.G., will formally open the Children's Playground, at Wanchai, on Wednesday, July 11, at 5.15 p.m.

COMMUNISTS SHOOT MISSIONARY.

Fukien Outrage.

The following telegram has just been received by the Dominican Missions:

Santiao (Fukien) 25, 5.30 p.m. Dominicos Hong Kong Urban Martin Murdered by Communists Vicar.

Father Martin was a young Missionary. He came from the theological House in New Orleans in September 1932 and went to the Mission on April 7, 1933.

The other young Father Bravo is still in the hands of Communists, since January 25 this year, and there is very little hope of his liberty.

Father Bravo belongs to the Vicariat of Mgr. Agu, while Father Martin was in Mgr. Labrador's Vicariat.

The military officials pay all of their bills with paper money, and the merchants in the smaller cities are forced to accept the money. In most of the agricultural districts the farmers will not accept paper money, preferring to barter or take silver money. In some sections coppers to the value of 10 cash each are preferred to either banknotes or silver.

THE NEW SERIES

The bank notes in circulation in Kwangsi Province at the present time were introduced some time ago to replace an older series which was backed by the mining resources of Kwangsi Province. The older series was recalled at par when the new series was floated. The banknotes are in the denominations of $1.00, $5.00, and $10.00. Different coloured ink is used in the printing of the notes of various denominations—red, lavender, and brown. English as well as Chinese is used on the notes, which were printed for the Provincial Bank of Kwangsi by the American Bank Note Company. The notes are dated 1929.

Because of the sudden drop in exchange and other political indications, it is a common rumour that war will be started in the near future.

In most of the larger cities of Kwangsi, extensive preparations are being made in the expectancy of war. In some of the districts troops are being mobilized, students are being trained in military tactics, and local military officials are staging mock war maneuvers in anticipation of war.

Trenches and reinforced concrete dug-outs and aeroplane shelters have been erected in one of the most important cities in the province. Close observers predict that war will be declared within four months, and the present depreciation of the Kwangsi dollar would seem to substantiate this prophecy.

FACTORY WORKS OVERTIME.

Manager Fined After Raid.

The manager of the Koon Wah knitting factory was fined $25 by Mr. E. G. Wynne Jones at the Rowland Magistracy this morning for making eight women work in his factory after prohibited hours.

Sanitary Inspector D. W. Phillips stated that on June 15 he raided the factory at 10.50 p.m. and found the women at work.

Defendant said that he had received an order worth $100, which he was to finish in a hurry.

GOOD NEWS FOR THOSE WHO FEAR 'FLU'

'ASPRO'

WILL HUNT OUT THE

'FLU'

IN 24 HOURS

HERE'S good news for those who fear the 'Flu. You can prevent colds, influenza and rheumatism — by taking 'ASPRO'. There has been so much evidence and proof from thousands of users all over the world as to the quick action, efficacy and safety of 'ASPRO' with these complaints, that we suggest you at least give it a trial. 'ASPRO' has a great variety of uses on account of its qualities as an Anti-Pyretic, Internal Antiseptic, Anti-Periodic, Anti-Fermentative and a solvent of Uric Acid. 'ASPRO' will not fail you — it is an all-British product—and on account of its numerous uses it is invaluable to have 'ASPRO' in your home ready for any emergency.

WHY 'ASPRO' DOES

NOT HARM THE HEART

Science Protects You

Against Dangerous

Drugs and Narcotics.

In appearance 'ASPRO' is merely a white tablet, yet how few realise the scientific investigations—the laboratory experimental work involved by analysis and chemists to produce 'ASPRO' free from the development of hydrolysis and Free Salicylic Acid which is so harmful to the human system. Don't meddle with dangerous drugs. You take no chances when you use 'ASPRO'. 'ASPRO' is the safe, sure, certain tablet. It does not harm the heart or cause stomach troubles. Furthermore it does not produce any injurious after-effects. 'ASPRO' relieves a headache in from 5 to 10 minutes. It stops colds and 'Flu' at inception and relieves rheumatism in one night, if taken according to the directions. It brings sweet sleep to the sleepless. It removes the cause of numerous complaints, because, after ingestion in the system, it is anti-fermentative — anti-periodic — an antiseptic — a powerful germicide and a solvent of uric acid. 'ASPRO' is packed in 8 sizes, 5s, 10s, and 27s.

Try 'ASPRO' for

Headache	Temperature
Rheumatism	Malaria
Neuritis	Dengue
Sleeplessness	Sciatica
Toothache	Cout
Ex	Lumbago
Neuralgia	Sore Throat
Colds	Asthma
Influenza	Hay Fever
Feverishness	Irritability
Periodical Pains Peculiar to Women.	Alcoholic After-Effects.

'ASPRO' has fulfilled a world demand for a QUICK ACTION MEDICINE. A PAIN RELIEVING MEDICINE that does not harm the heart—that does not create a craving and is not habit forming. A medicine that can be taken by all the family with absolute safety and efficacy.

HOW TO TAKE ASPRO FOR COLDS & FLU

'ASPRO' IS A SAFE & EFFECTIVE GARGLE FOR SORE THROAT & TONSILLITIS

Two 'ASPRO' Tablets dissolved in four tablespoonfuls of water make a very excellent gargle for sore throat, tonsillitis, and act as a deterrent. The reason why 'ASPRO' has such quick action in banishing influenza and cold attacks is, first, because it is an antipyretic or fever destroyer, secondly, when ingested in the system it is a powerful internal antiseptic and germicide.

You can prevent 'Flu' by taking 2 'ASPRO' Tablets at the first sign of a Cold and 2 tablets every three hours afterwards until the symptoms disappear, a hot whisky or lemon drink to be taken with the last dose before going to bed. It is advisable when taking 'ASPRO' for Influenza and Colds to keep the body warmly clad in order to prevent chill.

"The Turk as a business man is alright, but he has no ideas, and depends largely on other races.

"When I leave Hong Kong I shall go for five days into the interior of China, after which I shall return to collect my gear. I shall then go to Singapore, Egypt and home. I must be in England in November for the book I am writing will be published in that month.

This is my first trip to China, and I like it so much that I shall come back—for a holiday.

"I have a home in Paris, in which I stay when I advise the French Government, and another home in Roumania.

Food Of The English

"I like the English people so much—at first you do not know what to make of them, they are so serious, they do not live or love like the French or other Continental people.

"But oh! when you get to know them, they are so friendly and lovable. And the way they help charities! They just have to see anyone who looks hungry or needy, and they say 'Here you are'—so different from some of their neighbours across the Channel.

"The Prince of Wales is such a nice man. Oh yes, he will marry, and he will become the King of England. But he is so afraid of women, I have seen him in France, and in Brazil, and always he seems so afraid of the women.

"Communism will never remain in Russia. Russia is a terrible country. If visitors go from foreign countries, they are just starving the poor people, but it is not odd and the poor people are so hungry.

Russia's Terms For The League.

In many quarters diplomatic soundings are being taken on the present disposition of Soviet Russia to join the League of Nations. Great Britain, of course, has always recognised that the League cannot be complete without her, and has regretted the contemptuous and abusive language in which Moscow has hitherto referred to the League and to its purposes. If Russia now deems it expedient to change her tone and enter the League with honest intent, Britain would gladly support her claim to the permanent seat on the Council to which her twofold position as a vast European and Asiatic Power entitles her. They would not, however, tolerate the preposterous suggestion that Soviet Russia should be welcomed as "a saviour of the League." There is no altruism at Moscow. If she is now considering taking her place at Geneva, it is purely for her own strengthening in relation to the two Powers with which her present relations are none too cordial, viz., Japan and Germany.

Russia, however, is not contemplating an unconditional entry. M. Litvinoff, a shrewd bargainer, is proposing that not only must the approaches be smoothed for Russia but safeguarded and fortified by new and binding obligations into which other members of the League must enter. She would like, in fact, the Pact of Mutual Security which M. Boncour expounded at Geneva, coupled with her own definition of the aggressor which her representatives put forward at the Disarmament Conference. That definition, which of course was intended to entail the obligation of automatic sanctions, ranged from a declaration of war and an actual crossing of the border to an act of blockade or a shot fired at an aeroplane. But Great Britain has always steadfastly refused to "define" the aggressor. She will not bind herself in advance to accept the judgment of others on what may be a plain act of war or a technical offense. Just as little would the United States either consent to be bound by a definition of the aggressor or be pledged beforehand to anything beyond consultation. She must, therefore, be ruled out of the "largest of M. Boncour's 'concentric circles' which comprised all nations which subscribed to the Kellogg Pact.

Into the inner circle, consisting of the League Powers, which under this fantastic scheme would be committed to a blockade of the defined aggressor, Great Britain will in no wise enter, because the sanction blockade means war. From the innermost circle of European countries, great and small, which might be called upon to supply armies against the aggressor, Italy, Poland and Belgium have withdrawn in advance. A crowd of others would follow. There is no reality in such a scheme, and without reality it is useless to Soviet Russia, which, in truth, is rather in search of allies than of peaceful partners in a League of Peace. It is one thing for her to join the League with honest intent to enter the comity of nations. It is quite another that she should seek to make her entry conditional upon terms imposing obligations upon Great Britain and other countries which they have always resisted and will certainly continue to resist.

A Nation Of Capitalists.

In the figures given at the annual meeting of the City of London Savings Committee there is no sign of decline in the war-cultivated habit of saving. Small investors to-day are credited with possessing £2,490,000,000—a total more than three times the amount of the National Debt as it existed before the war. Half of the amount is in National Savings Certificates, in the Post Office Savings Bank, and in Trustee Savings Banks. That money is a reserve for the people against the possible coming of thin times, and these individual accumulations stand as an impregnable safeguard against Socialist expropriation.

With the growth of these small savings it may be hoped that a greater proportion of them will find an outlet in industrial development. The savings of the richer portion of the population, which are still the principal source of new capital, are reduced by high taxation and Death Duties. An expansion of national activity will provide an opportunity for the smaller man, who has yet to gain confidence in investment in contradiction to saving.

Orphaned Niece Unregistered.

Won By A Fin

When the teams in the recent international angling contest at Loch Leven returned to the pier, it was found that Scotland, England and Wales had 38 fish each. Ireland with 25 was a poor fourth.

Strong men trembled with excitement as the three lots of 38 were weighed on the scales.

Then a mighty cheer went up: Scotland had beaten England for first place by an ounce and a half.

He Stood Up For The King

When Kings were crowned at Westminster in the Middle Ages, the Champion of England, armed to the teeth, appeared on horseback and challenged anyone who would deny the King's right to the throne.

The suit of Dymoke armour which he wore on these occasions is shortly to come up for sale at Sotheby's.

It is part of the collection of the late W. B. Redfern and was acquired from the hereditary family of King's Champions.

Mr. F. S. Dymoke, a Lincolnshire squire, who now lives at Scrivelsby Court, is still Honorary King's Champion and Standard Bearer of England.

The last coronation at which the Champion made his challenge was that of George the Fourth.

"As soon as the cold weather comes I have to stop playing billiards." "How's that?" "Every time the three balls get together they remind me of my overcoat."

"Until I got a car," said the vicar, "I never knew that profanity was so prevalent." "Do you hear much of it on the road?" asked his parishioner. "Dear me, yes," replied the clergyman. "Nearly everybody I knock down swears horribly."

"Did Jones ever pay back that pound he borrowed?" "No. He offered to toss me double or quits, and I won. So now he owes me two."

Biz: "What is your idea of an optimist?" Dix: "A dead-broke individual ordering oysters with the hope that he can pay for his dinner with the pearl."

"If I were you," she said, during a lull in the domestic storm, "I would have more sense." "Of course, you would," he retorted decidedly.

PROSPERITY AHEAD FOR HONG KONG DEPRESSION TO END IN A YEAR

FAMOUS SEERESS GIVES HOPE FOR FUTURE OF WORLD

MADAM TERFREN LAILA

"The depression which is at present gripping the whole world will come to an end in about a year and be followed by a long period of prosperity, as the result of a solution to existing international economic problems, which will come from a man in a European country," said Madame Terfren Laila, the world-famous seeress and clairvoyant, in an exclusive interview with the China Mail yesterday afternoon.

"Only good can come to Hong Kong in the future," she continued, "prosperity will follow on the top of changes in the Chinese Government."

"As the result of these changes an entirely new relationship between China and Great Britain will be established. British people will be welcomed in China, friendly trading and social relations will be established, and the present restriction of exports of minerals will be abolished."

"Within one or two years schemes will be going ahead for connecting Hong Kong with all parts of the interior of China by both railways and up-to-date roadways."

Peace and prosperity will reign in China, the present outrages of bandits will cease, and within two and a half years there will no longer be fear of pirates on the China coast.

"The new Chinese Government will commence a campaign immediately, for the suppression of pirates and bandits, as the result of which the majority of the pirates who make travel on the Chinese coast a menace to everybody will be hanged."

"I want to go into the interior of China," she continued, "but I shall have to dress like a beggar, and carry just my few belongings with me."

New German Kingdoms

The prophetic made startling revelations regarding European politics. "Germany," she said "will be divided into three, following a revolution, just a small one, in which Hitler and Nazism will be entirely and finally crushed."

The three new kingdoms will be Bavaria, Wurttemberg and Prussia. Each will have a king from the old aristocracy of Germany. The new King of Prussia will be one of the grandsons of Kaiser Wilhelm II, but he will not reign long. Already he is suffering from a kidney complaint from which he will die shortly after ascending the throne.

"The new kingdoms of Wurttemberg and Bavaria will go ahead and prosper, everything will be well with them. But not so Prussia."

"Prussia will have a hard, hard time. The Prussians do not want friendly relations with other peoples, they always want to rule and be overbearing, but when, eventually, they have learned their lesson after much hardship and suffering, Prussia will go ahead and become a prosperous country."

New Austrian King

"Austria will never link up with Germany. Soon Austria will once more have a monarch, in the person of Prince Otto von Hapsburg."

"War will take place between Russia and Japan, and if no European nation will go to the help of Russia she will fall. Japan must be successful, and, after her success, she will be satisfied for a long long time."

Madame Laila is very interested in Japan, and, questioned as to whether she thought Japan was a menace, she said "no!"

"After Japan has taken what she wants of Russia she will be content. She will certainly not worry China or Australia, but it is quite possible that she will have her eyes on the Islands, particularly on the Philippine Islands, Borneo and Hawaii."

"The people of Australia need have no fear that Japan will ever menace their country. But there is the possibility that she will have an eye on California."

"What Japan wants is oil and people who have it should be prepared."

Japan's Problems

"The chief trouble with Japan is that there are between one and two million babies too many born each year, but when they have somewhere to place their surplus population they will not be a menace to the world."

"This also applies to industrial matters. England need have no fear of competition from Japan in her textile and woolen industries. 'Countries who produce silk, yes, but not textiles. When a person has bought Japanese textiles or woollens once that is the last time.'"

"In Roumania, my own country, we produce silk, and we produce it cheaply, but Japan can undersell us by 60 per cent."

"I can see, however, that Japan only wants to export her surplus goods, and that when she has sufficient territory to expand she will have less to export, and cannot be looked on as a menace to industrial England."

Mussolini's Successor

"Italy is another country which has before her a prosperous future. Mussolini has made a great success of the country, and he will rule for a long time. When, eventually, he does die, he will die a natural death from a complication of heart and kidney trouble, from which he is at present suffering."

"A young man, who is now serving under him will, however, fill his shoes most efficiently, although he will not be as popular. There is, after all, only one Mussolini, and however efficient this young man is, he will never be as popular as his leader and present master."

"The Fascism of Italy is the real Fascism, and it will last."

"Another man for whom I have a great liking is Kemal Pasha, although he must be careful or his exclusion of outsiders from Turkey will ruin him, and his country."

COERSION CHARGE IN CAFE CASE CHINESE CASHIER CAUSES SENSATION

"SALARY CUT" BECAUSE REFUSED TO TESTIFY AGAINST ADAMSON

Startling allegations of coercion by Mr. N. Blumenthal, the proprietor of the Marcel Buffet and Cafe, of Nathan Road, were made by a Chinese cashier at the Supreme Court this morning at the continued hearing, before the Chief Justice, Mr. A. D. A. MacGregor, of the claim by Mr. F. L. Adamson against Mr. Blumenthal for $7,000 damages on grounds of wrongful dismissal.

He stated in evidence that Mr. Blumenthal had called him aside in November and asked him to come to Court and to state that from his own knowledge Mr. Adamson had given the former cashier $10 to omit to register food which was taken in the Cafe, and to put down $5 when he signed for $10 worth of chits.

He also alleged that his claim for two months' salary, when he was dismissed in December, was refused because he would not sign a statement agreeing to give evidence in Court to the effect that Mr. Adamson was frequently drunk in the Cafe.

Witness said that he refused to do this because he had never seen Mr. Adamson drunk and knew that he always paid what he had signed for.

Another witness for the plaintiff, Mr. H. E. Lanepart, who formerly kept the books of the Marcel Cafe.

Witness stated that in his opinion, Mr. Adamson was a great asset to the business and did his work very well. He was never drunk, although witness said that he saw him frequently. He considered that Mr. Blumenthal had "made the greatest mistake of his life in dismissing Mr. Adamson and I told him so." The business had got on splendidly when Mr. Adamson was in charge but had dropped after he left, he said. "They tried many men in his place."

At the outset of the proceedings this morning Mr. Leo D'Almada e Castro, counsel for the plaintiff, intimated that the general claim for $17,000 was abandoned merely because the amount was not maintainable in law.

Mr. Adamson's Evidence.

The case for the plaintiffs was commenced with the evidence of Mr. Frank Lewisone Adamson. He said that he now worked on a commission basis for the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha and sold beer and cement. He said that he had found it very difficult at times to make his way, and even to pay his apartment and food bills.

He came into contact with Mr. Blumenthal as he and his wife used to eat frequently at the Cafe. Mr. Blumenthal suggested that he should work in the Buffet, "and he seemed to try to tell me that he couldn't do anything with the place."

Witness went on to say that Mr. Blumenthal had considered "securing the American mercantile and Navy trade, which he thought that he was not getting."

Witness said that he had a free hand when he was employed, the only restriction being in regard to purchases. Within a month after he took over the place business began to pick up. Previous to that the shop appeared to be doing nothing. The place became quite popular after July, and continued to be so after his dismissal, he asserted.

Witness also claimed that he had many friends on the American boats, "from the Captain down to the stoker." On occasions he drank with them and also gave a drink on the house. There was an allowance in his contract for this. Witness said that it would be incorrect to say that he hated drink. He took perhaps four or five drinks a day, sometimes less and at other times more. He thought that he held his liquor very well.

Misconduct Denied.

Cross-examined by his counsel, witness denied each of the ten particulars of misconduct which were alleged against him by the defence, including drunkenness; endangering the license by remaining open after midnight; undue familiarity with the servants; and failing to keep a correct account of the monies received.

Denying the charge of familiarity with the servants, witness said that on his wife's birthday they presented her with a gift and that night, just before closing up he invited them, each to have a bottle of orange squash. On another occasion he could not finish a bottle of beer, which he had opened and gave it to the cashier. He always had proper control over the servants, he said, and denied that he habitually used bad language.

Referring to the alleged assault on Mr. Richter, Mr. Blumenthal's assistant, witness said that this was not true. He went to the Police Station because he had heard Mr. Blumenthal call for the police and "knew that he wanted to put something over me."

Question of Arithmetic.

Witness was cross-examined by Mr. H. C. Macnamara, counsel for the defence, and agreed that his claim for $6,488, as commission at 40 per cent. on the net profit of the Cafe for 8 months would be equivalent to about $800 per month as his share. Witness, however, did not agree that the net profit of the Cafe would have to be $2,000 a month. "Little less, I believe."

Mr. Macnamara—How could it be otherwise?

After some conversation Mr. Macnamara dismissed the subject, stating that it was perfectly obvious.

Further questioned, witness said that he had worked the business up until receipts were about $160 per day. "A regular gold mine," he added.

"It hasn't turned out to be one" observed Macnamara.

Libel And Slander.

Witness was questioned on the action which he took against Mr. Newman of the Gloucester Building for alleged libel and slander, and that his claim for $1,000 was reduced to $1 by Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell, who had stated that the case should never have been brought to Court.

Witness said that he had only sued for nominal damages and an apology.

Mr. Macnamara replied that the apology was refused.

HEAVY FINES FOR UNMUZZLED DOGS

Magistrate's Appeal To Public.

CHILD'S APPALLING DEATH FROM RABIES

Fining Mrs. F. C. Duckson, of No. 14, Kent Road, Kowloon Tong, $10.00 for permitting two dogs on the street without muzzles on June 7, and one dog on June 15, Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy said: "Summons for allowing dogs out unmuzzled from July 1, will be followed by a fine of $25.00. "The Medical Officer of the Kowloon Hospital told me that there were 17 cases of dog-bite in hospital. Rabies have been proved to be in existence on the Castle Peak Road, Shing Mun, and Yau-mat.

"A child died the other day in the Kowloon Hospital suffering from rabies in a most appalling state. Anyone having seen it would do their utmost to prevent rabies spreading by muzzling their dogs.

"Any humane person would rather see all the dogs in Kowloon or the New Territories shot before seeing a person die of rabies," he concluded.

Mr. G. E. Dudley of Kent Road, Kowloon Tong, was also fined $10.00 for a similar offence, his dog having been in Kent Road without a muzzle on June 8, at 5.30 p.m.

Mr. Gray, of No. 16, Hankow Road, was fined $10.00 for allowing his dog unmuzzled in Hankow Road on June 9.

WORLD RUBBER SUPPLY

Second Meeting Reports Good Progress.

NEXT CONFERENCE ON JULY 31

London, To-day.

The communique of the second meeting of the International Rubber Regulation Committee welcomed Sir George Beharrell, of Great Britain and Herr Otto Friedrich, of Germany, as members of the Advisory Panel of Manufacturers.

Matters relating to organisation and preparation of statistics were considered, also the reports of various delegations on the measures taken to implement obligations under the International Agreement.

The Committee is satisfied with the progress of the latter which is very well advanced. The next meeting is on July 31.—Reuter.

SATISFACTORY PROGRESS

London, To-day.

At a meeting of the International Rubber Regulation Committee, held in London yesterday, the Committee welcomed Sir George Beharrell, representing the India Rubber Manufacturers' Association of Great Britain, and Herr Otto Friedrich, representing the Reichsverband der Deutschen Kautschuk-Industries, who attended as members of the Advisory Panel of Manufacturers.

The appointment of a third member of the Panel by the Rubber Manufacturers' Association of America is expected shortly. The committee considered various matters relating to the organisation of their work and the preparation of statistics, also the cost of production, consumption, and stocks of crude rubber.

The committee also considered reports made by the various delegations on measures taken by the countries they represent to implement their obligations under an international agreement.

This matter is very well advanced and the committee are satisfied with the progress made.—British Wireless Service.

TRADE DELEGATION IN LONDON.

Polish Ministers Have Audience To-day.

London, To-day.

Monsieur Sokolowski of the Polish Ministry of Industry and Commerce, and Monsieur Rose of the Ministry of Agriculture, who are heading the Polish Delegation to negotiate with the British Government for a new trade agreement, arrived in London yesterday.

The delegation will be formally received by the President of the Board of Trade, Mr. Walter Runciman, and Colonel Colville, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Department of Overseas Trade, to-day.—British Wireless Service.

Five cases of small-pox, three cases of typhoid fever and one case of animal rabies were reported in the Colony during the week ending June 23. During the same period one person died from small-pox. The number of deaths from tuberculosis was 51.

One case of typhoid fever was reported in the Colony during the 24 hours ending June 25.

To-day's Short Story.

CHAILEY'S FOLLY

By L. A. G.
Strong.

THE buzzing ceased, and the Governor's voice sounded clear again over the phone.

"It is true, then, that you're coming to the moor for a holiday?"

"Yes. For a holiday."

John Rogan put a slight emphasis on the last word; and smiled to himself to hear the other pause.

"I thought perhaps you might like to give me a little assistance."

"It's only a short holiday, you know," protested Rogan. "However, I shall, of course, find time to come and see you."

"I should hope so." The Governor paused again. "As a matter of fact, I want you to see someone else."

"Oh?"

"It's that infernal Chailey, Rogan. He's becoming a positive nuisance. Positive menace to law and order. Confoundedly awkward position, for me."

"For you, Everashed? But how?"

The voice at the other end was understood to mutter something about "a laughing-stock."

"You've a good deal of influence over the fellow, haven't you?" it went on.

Rogan laughed. "I don't know that unsuccessfully defending a man gives him any great confidence in one," he replied. "If I'd got him off, now, there might have been some chance."

"If you'd got him off he wouldn't be where he is," snapped the other. "I wish to the Lord you had. You'd have saved me a deal of worry."

"What's this, what's this! The Governor of one of His Majesty's prisons wishing that a guilty man had defeated the ends of justice? Well, well, Everashed, I'm surprised at you."

WOMAN DUMPS HER DEAD CHILD IN ALLEYWAY

BELATED VISIT TO DOCTOR.

$25 FINE IMPOSED

Chan Sum, a 34-year-old married woman of No. 208 Fuk Wah Street was fined $25, in default of one month's hard labour, by Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning for removing the body of Cho So, her five-month-old male child, without a death certificate, and dumping it in a small lane off Yen Chou Street, near the Shamshui Police Station.

Sgt. Poyntz said that she was seen from the Police Station carrying the body, and was followed by a Chinese detective.

Defendant stated that when she had taken the child from her home he was still alive and she was taking him to a doctor, but the child died before she reached the doctor's house, so she left him in the lane.

It was later discovered that the child had died from bronchial pneumonia.

This is the second case of dead bodies being dumped in Shamshui within a fortnight.

UNMUZZLED DOGS ON BEACHES.

Two Fines Imposed On Europeans.

Summoned for having allowed his unmuzzled dog to be at large on Big Wave Bay beach on June 17, Sergeant W. T. Cahill, R. A. S. C., was fined $3 by Mr. Q. A. A. MacPadden at the Central Police Court this morning.

Private Wyatt, R. A. S. C., was fined $3 for a similar summons. He allowed his dog to go out in Robinson Road without a muzzle.

A fine of $5 was imposed on Mr. Frank Tolle, of No. 1, Felix Villas, for allowing his brown Dachshund abroad without a muzzle at the Republic Bay bathing beach on June 18.

"Go on. Be humorous," came the disconsolate voice. "Will you see the chap, or won't you?"

"Certainly. I'm all curiosity. I intended to pay him my respects, in any case. But I still can't understand why you don't simply get rid of him."

"Can't, man. No power. He's not actually breaking the law."

"Oh, come. Don't tell me. There are ways of working these little matters."

"I'd be glad to hear of 'em, then. We have our legal advisers, you know. The point may not have occurred to you."

Rogan smiled again. He was enjoying himself.

"I know. Huckworthy is one of them, isn't he? I had the privilege of—er—appearing on the opposite side to him a short while ago."

"Getting too big for your boots, aren't you?"

"You'd better be polite to me, or I shan't come."

"Oh, go to hell!"

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "The Keepers Of The Sanctuary," by A. V. Hall.

"Thanks."

"You will come, then?"

"If only to congratulate my old client."

There was an abrupt sound from the other end. Rogan, well pleased, put the receiver softly back in its place, and sat down by the fire to consider.

So Mortimer Chailey's mad whim was taking effect, after all! What a man! Brilliant, dangerous, his brilliance and danger much lessened by an almost insane pride which would never let him forget a slight or an injury. It was this revengefulness which had led to his downfall. A system of fraud so vast, so simple, and so perfectly screened that it must have run on undetected for years, was revealed owing to Chailey's personal spite against a colleague. The colleague, in a deal so small that Chailey could have written off a hundred like it, had got the better of him.

Chailey, his pride stung, pursued the man: attention was drawn to the affairs of his company; and a petty, insensate lawsuit led to the arrest of the prosecutor, Mortimer Chailey, world-famous financier, on a colossal charge of fraud. The arrest shook the City. Chailey out of custody, and free to act, might conceivably save the situation, or at least reduce the losses: Chailey convicted could mean one thing only—the ruin of hundreds. The law, however, can take no cognizance of such matters. Once its machinery is set going, the process cannot be delayed. Chailey, even if he had had no means of his own, could have commanded an almost unlimited sum from the City for his defence: but he had enough to spare.

Then came his first set-back. Eminent advocates, despite the celebrity of the case, seemed far from anxious to undertake it. The closer they looked into it, the less anxious they were; since it appeared that the prosecution were going to have matters all their own way. Moreover, the attitude of Chailey himself, as soon as he heard of their hesitation, did nothing to win them over. It was not till a week had passed that his harassed solicitor came to inform him that they had at last secured an advocate—one John Rogan—who expressed himself willing to conduct the defence.

"Rogan! Rogan! Who the hell's Rogan! I tell you, I want the best that money can buy."

There was a long scene, but at last the cornered man consented to see his counsel. After two minutes, he realised that he had met his match.

"Look here, Mr. Chailey," the Irishman interrupted him, holding up a large hand. "There's not the least bit of going on like that. We're neither of us here for our health. You want to get off—for obvious reasons. I want to get you off, for my own sake, not for yours. It so happens that the same result will suit us both. Now, tell me what you like."

Well, thought Rogan, leaning back and looking at the ceiling, I didn't get him off. No man alive could have done that. But I got him off three of the charges, and I made my name for good and all. He might have gone on that, strangely enough, he and Chailey had won each a real respect for the other. Chailey admired the advocate's frankness and independence of mind; Rogan admired the other's skill, and understood, even if he could not agree with, his passionate conviction that he had committed no crime, and that society had done him a mortal injury. Chailey believed, and half made Rogan believe, that despite the crookedness of his start he could have brought off his bluff with immense profit, and made a fortune for all who had trusted him.

He was a bad prisoner. Not a single day's remission did he earn, but served the full bitter five years. And now—well, now came the Governor's trouble.

"Put me down here, will you?"

The car stopped at the edge of a little wood, and Rogan, pulling up his coat collar, stepped out into the narrow moorland lane. Tiny trickles of water, gleaming in the headlights, ran between the stones of the road; the pine trees, looming above, were heavy with moisture, and every breath of air brought down a shower of drops. The driver, after a puzzled look at Rogan, went on downhill to a place where he could turn. Rogan, who had purposely overhauled his mark, walked sharply up the hill till he came to a gate. Turning in, he stood shivering, until he heard the car pass on its homeward way. Then he emerged again into the lane. Ten minutes' walking brought him to his goal. There was a moon behind the mist and it showed up, clearly enough, the long rectangular building with the stone courtyard and the extraordinary high stone gateway. Grimacing to himself, Rogan passed under its shadow, crossed the yard, and tugged vigorously at an old iron bell-pull. At once, there broke out in the still dark house a hideous clangour, a jangling of alarm bells that took half a minute to subside into resentful, rusty silence. Then came heavy steps, and the sound of bolts and chains.

Rogan clicked his tongue. "Really," he said under his breath. "It's too childish."

The door swung open, and he stepped into a dark hall, lit only by a diminutive candle at the far end. Wriggling out of his coat, he essayed to hand it to the form in the gloom behind him. "Pass forward."

There was no authority in the voice. It sounded hollow, unconvicted.

"Oh, all right. Anything you like."

Rogan walked forward in the direction of the candle. Before he reached it a door opened, framing in brilliant light a figure which he at once recognised as that of his one-time client, Mortimer Chailey. At the same moment his hat and coat were whipped away from behind with an almost alarming suddenness.

"Ah, Mr. Rogan! What a pleasure."

Eager to return to Philadelphia to visit his mother, Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, in exile at Weinberg, Germany, volunteered to go to America to stand trial for draft evasion during the war, providing he is tried by a civil court instead of by a military court martial.

sure to entertain you here. It is indeed good of you to honour us with your company."

"Use?"

Rogan, still dazzled by the light, his hand being cordially shaken, was drawn into the room, and the door closed behind him.

"Yes. These gentlemen, who are staying with me, will be delighted to make your acquaintance."

He steered the bewildered Rogan round, to confront a company of six or seven grinning old lags, all like their host, dressed in convict clothes. They sat about the room in deep leather chairs, or lolled on sofas, smoking cigars.

Rogan bowed. "Delighted. But—" He turned to his host: "I am sorry. I didn't realise it was a fancy dress evening."

Chailey's face changed. "What we choose to wear is our own affair," he said.

"Certainly. Certainly. I commend you. A pleasing asceticism. You are accustomed yourselves to the pleasure of civilised life gradually, lest they go to your heads. Besides—so economical."

"Look here," said Chailey harshly, "You have come at your own request. What for, God knows; but the least you can do is to keep a civil tongue in your head."

"My dear Chailey, I'm sorry. But I really think you ought to have warned me, so that I could have procured suitable apparel."

"You have no right to wear this uniform," cried Chailey. "Society has not injured you. You are not the victim of its hypocrisy and narrow-mindedness. Look at the man!"

He turned to the others. "Look at the man who would like to have put on our uniform for a joke."

"No joke, Chailey," cut in Rogan quickly, before they could answer. "And, even if society has not injured me, as you put it, I have often done my best for those whom it has."

"That's right, governor," came a voice from the back of the room. "Always for the defence, John Rogan."

"That's right."

"So he is."

An approving murmur ran round the company. Taking advantage of it, Rogan crossed to the fireplace, and stood warming himself.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I am your guest to-night, and by my own desire. Let us forget everything but that."

"Right."

Chailey, giving his lean shoulder a shake, went over to a side table. "Have a drink?"

"Thanks."

The atmosphere was quiet, but still a little strained, when a man in warder's uniform flung open the door.

"Dinner is served, gentlemen," he announced.

Of all the meals John Rogan ate in his life, that dinner was the strangest. Eight men in broad arrows, and himself in full evening dress, were waited upon by uniformed warders. At least—not quite. At his first sight of them, Rogan's heart leaped; for it seemed that here was an instant solution of Evered's trouble. It is against the law for any person to wear His Majesty's uniform who is not entitled to do so. A closer look, however, dashed his hopes. The uniforms were almost identical, but not quite. Chailey had been too cunning.

"The warders, at first, discovered that, as outsiders, should see their degradation, seemed speedily to forget, and relapsed to an accustomed servility that was even more horrible to Rogan than their first sickly smiles. The conversation seldom strayed far from its spiritual homes, the Old Bailey, and the Court of Criminal Appeal: but all, save Chailey and a young dark haired man, whose eyebrows met thickly above his nose, seemed to take their convictions as a matter of course, and their present situation as a joke.

Chailey, supported by an occasional fierce monosyllable from the young man, remained morose. Rogan was glad when the meal was at an end, and he found himself at last closeted with Chailey in the latter's study. There, the spectacle of his host lolled in broad arrows in a deep leather armchair seemed more bizarre than ever.

For some time they talked of neutral matters, the City, the state of business, and Rogan's career. Then Chailey asked the question which had been trembling on his tongue all the time.

"Well," he said, "what do you think of my house and retinue, eh?"

Rogan knocked the ash off his cigar before replying. "I was afraid you were going to ask me that," he said.

"The other's face darkened. "Indeed?"

"If you really want to know what I think—"

"That's why I asked you."

"Childish, my dear Chailey. Nursery games. I simply can't understand," he went on quickly, giving the other no chance to interrupt. "How a man of your intelligence can behave in such an infantile fashion, I should have thought you would stop you, if not in time."

At midnight the passengers were told that they could take their jackets off and go to their cabins. Many in the tourist class, however, found that their cabins had been damaged by the fire, and had to be found accommodation elsewhere.

From Honolulu to Yokohama, Kobe and Shanghai, part of the accommodation had been reopened, and on arrival in Shanghai, repair gangs got busy.

Miss Nicholson paid a tribute to the crew, which was not one that had sailed together before. In view of the shipping strike conditions on the Pacific Coast, Miss Nicholson said that they had remarkable work in getting the lifeboats ready and fully equipped in a very short period of time.

The recent heavy rains have uncovered some nice little gold workings on the old-alluvial workings in Kalgoorlie, but some of the best finds have been made within the town itself by people who were not looking for gold.

One man living in Wilson street, on leaving home to go to work, saw glinting at his gate a slug weighing 17 dwts., and worth between £5 and £6. A woman picked up a slug of 2 dwts.

An unemployed man who spent a couple of hours searching the upper end of Brookman Street was rewarded with three small pieces, aggregating about four cents, all of which had been stolen by the traffic.

The presence of gold in the ore is explained by the fact that many of the roads were macadamised in the early days with ironstone conglomerate from Monte Christo quarry, near a spot where Hannan first found gold.

The conglomerate is known to contain gold, but it is distributed patchily that it does not pay work it.

When the streets were being made slugs of three ounces were found by the roadworkers.—Ref.

"I think it's time we joined the band and had a little music," said the valley drily. "One of our own boys is very talented. His rendition of the celebrated ballad of the Mountain Hall is a pleasure to hear."

IMPOSING U.S. SILVER STATISTICS

U.S.$940,500,000 INFLATION ANTICIPATED

MONEY PRINTERS LAGGING

WASHINGTON, TO-DAY. ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS BELIEVE THAT THE NEW SILVER PURCHASE PLAN WILL CAUSE CURRENCY EXPANSION OF AT LEAST U.S.$940,500,000 WITH A CORRESPONDING INCREASE IN COMMODITY PRICES BY THE YEAR-END.

This was disclosed after Representative Dies had announced that the Treasury had already bought about 70,000,000 ounces of silver, though the exact amount is not positively ascertainable, because, owing to the metal being purchased in markets all over the world, the Treasury tabulations are not up-to-date.

It is reported elsewhere that the price paid so far is 44 cents per ounce.

REPRESENTATIVE DIES SAID THAT THE BUREAU OF PRINTING AND ENGRAVING WAS FAR BEHIND SCHEDULE IN PRINTING THE NEW SILVER CERTIFICATES TO BE ISSUED FOR THE BASIS METAL.

SILVER RECEIPTS IN AMERICA.

8,945,000 Ounces Bought In Six Months.

VALUED AT $45,826,000

Washington, To-day. The United States Treasury announces that silver receipts under the executive order of December 21, 1933, until June 22, 1934, amounted to 8,945,000 ounces, while purchases for the week ended June 22, totalled $80,832 ounces.

Purchases are now being made from the general fund rather than from the stabilization fund. The value of silver bullion held on June 22 was given as U.S.$45,826,000, as compared with U.S.$44,873,000 on June 1. Gold receipts, under the anti-hoarding order, amounted to U.S.$28,119,000 in gold coin and U.S.$60,463,000 in gold certificates.—Reuter.

SILVER HOLDINGS DECLINE

This is the first substantial decrease in refinery stocks since August.

World production for May was 16,002,000 ounces, as compared with 16,318,000 ounces in April, and 13,203,000 ounces last May.

World output for the first five months of 1934 was 72,978,000 ounces as compared with 67,628,000 ounces for the corresponding period of 1933.

The decline in May production is chiefly attributed to a decrease in the Mexican output, which is estimated at 6,000,000 ounces, as compared with 7,822,000 ounces in April.

United States production in May was 2,303,000 ounces, as compared with 2,389,000 ounces in April.—United Press per S. E. Levy and Company.

NO FURTHER LANDSLIDES

In response to enquiries this morning the Executive Engineer of the Public Works Department Roads Office, Mr. H. Pegg, stated that there have been no landslides following the heavy rain of the past 24 hours.

ROOSEVELT WILL BROADCAST

Stewardship Review To-morrow.

NOT PARTICIPATING IN COMING CAMPAIGN

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Message Ordinance, 1891. Received June 27, 8.45 a.m.)

Washington, To-day. President Roosevelt has returned from Hyde Park and plans to study the major Bills.

It is learned that he will broadcast, to-morrow night, a review of his stewardship.

This is expected to be his last major address until returning from Honolulu, after which, he will make several cross-country speeches, none of which are expected to be politically significant.

It is intimated that President Roosevelt will not participate in the forthcoming election campaigns — United Press, per S. E. Levy and Company.

14 ROUTINE BILLS

Washington, To-day. After announcing his intention of broadcasting another message to the nation to-morrow evening, President Roosevelt has voted 14 routine Bills passed during the closing days of Congress.

He disregarded the custom of allowing the measures to die by refusing to sign them, and wrote on each "disapproved and signature withheld," with a brief statement of the reasons appended.—Reuter.

JAPANESE GIRL HAS NO PASSPORT.

Expulsion Order Made.

Kikue Shibahara, a 10-year-old Japanese waitress, was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy this morning, with entering the Colony without a valid passport.

Detective-Sergeant Mottram said that defendant came to the Colony by a Japanese boat on June 10. She had a free passage to Canton, but, stopped in Hong Kong and was about to start to work in a local restaurant, when she applied for registration. He also said that she has a sister in the Colony.

An expulsion order was made to send accused back to Japan.

to the charges, said that he did not remember anything. Sergeant Reddish said that accused at the time was in a drunken condition.

A fine of $10, in default 14 days imprisonment, was imposed on the first charge, while a fine of $25, in default one month's imprisonment was imposed on the second charge.

A stern warning to the defendant was given by Mr. Hamilton.

JAPANESE WOMAN FINED

Pleading guilty to two summonses of dealing with radio receiving sets without a license, and of being in possession of radio sets without a license, K. Iida, a Japanese woman, of No. 56 Johnston Road, was fined $50 by Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy this morning. She was cautioned on the second summons.

"REMEMBERED NOTHING."

Hayashi-Sagara, a Japanese, was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistracy this morning, with disorderly conduct and with assaulting a police constable early this morning.

Sergeant Reddish, in evidence, said that at 12.45 o'clock this morning he was on duty at the junction of Lockhart and Fleming Roads, and heard a cry from a woman and saw accused push a coolie off the pavement. He went up to make enquiries. Accused then turned around and said: "I am a Japanese."

He then knocked Sergeant Reddish off the pavement.

Defendant, pleaded not guilty (Continued at Foot of Next Col.)
